Attention: Pensions Department.

I understand that the private pension contributions and funds you hold on my behalf are held in a variety of investments.

If constitutional changes within the UK results in Scotland becoming an independent country, does that political change in circumstance in any way affect the security of these funds, or my current entitlement to my private pension with you?

If I chose to live elsewhere other than the UK would that change in circumstances affect my entitlement to my private pension?

I declare that the information I have provided is correct.
