The UK Home Office previously confirmed in Scotland Analysis : Borders and Citizenship January 2014, that current UK passport holders would retain UK citizenship, and future children of British citizens born in an independent Scottish state would retain the right to British citizenship.

What you I can do now?

Complete the form overleaf. The UK Home office can direct you to a copy of the report confirming this information.

Who we are:

Pensioners for Independence, Aberdeenshire is an organisation of pensioners helping inform other pensioners, and those approaching pension age in Scotland, about issues surrounding Scotland becoming Independent.

For more information visit:

Attention: Home Secretary.

I understand from the report Scotland Analysis : Borders and Citizenship January 2014, that all current UK Passports holders would retain UK Citizenship, and future children of British citizens born in an independent Scottish state would retain the right to British citizenship.

Can you please supply me with, or direct me to a copy of this report.

I declare that the information I have provided is correct.

Attention: DWP, Pensions Officer.

I understand my National Insurance contributions are the basis for my entitlement to a UK State pension.

If constitutional changes within the UK results in Scotland becoming an Independent country does that political change in circumstance in any way effect my current entitlement to a UK State pension?

If I chose to live elsewhere other than the UK or Scotland, would that change in my circumstances effect my entitlement to a UK State pension?

I declare that the information I have provided is correct.
